Henry IV Opens

by Kevin Kelly & Don Kavanagh

As the lights dimmed, audience and characters were transported into the 14th Century England of Henry IV. The dynamic and rousing drama about the rebellion of Hotspur and his cohorts against King Henry, the coming of age of Hal, the Prince of Wales, and the antics of the mischievous Falstaff and his band of thieves, was presented with appropriate Shakespearean artistry. The performance embraced murderous swordplay, romance, comedy, tragedy, heroism, cowardice, loyalty, treason, triumph and defeat.

Timothy McCarron as Hotspur displayed tremendous energy and zeal, true to his role, but perhaps excessively in the first act. In Shakespearean drama, great importance must be placed on the words and when an actor hurries his lines he may lose their meaning and the audience's understanding as well. However, in the second act Mr. McCarron gained complete control of his character and continued throughout with an outstanding and moving performance.

Falstaff, portrayed by John Romeo, led an invasion from the comic world as he and his cronies, Peter Reuss, Robert Visceglia, Joseph Cesarelli and Lee Bolognani, brought down the house. Shakespeare himself would have had difficulty finding a more suitable troupe. Casting his light over the entire performance, Falstaff juxtaposed comedy with the tragic and with each appearance on stage guaranteed a laugh from the audience. Special mention must be given here to Peter Reuss for his superb comic support to both Falstaff and Hal in his role as Poins.

Most of Shakespeare's plays place great emphasis on the development of individual characters. Prince Hal, as played by William Mannle, was an excellent example of the growth of a happy-go-lucky youth into a serious, responsible man. Mr. Mannle's performance showed him to be a versatile actor, and even though overshadowed by the character, Falstaff, he managed to establish a strong identity.

King Henry, not a powerful character in the script, was nonetheless memorable due to the outstanding performance by Chip Kelly. Phil Ciulla, as Archibald, took over for an ailing Bob Putnam with only 48 hours before opening night. With only two days of rehearsal Phil managed to give a very convincing portrayal. Along with Phil we would like to complime dition of a Welsh folk song. Mr. and Mrs. Donald Rathgeb deserve our hearty congratulations for their excellent directing and coaching.

We have neither the room nor the words to praise the entire cast and crew of Henry IV. As Hotspur said, "Let each man do his best", and it is our mutual belief that all involved not only fulfilled this command but went far beyond it.

"Let Each Man Do His Best . . ."

THE MICHAELMAN

Bill Moore new

Michaelman Chief

This week, Joe Rinaldi announced the appointment of William Moore as his successor as Editor-in-Chief of The Michaelman. Mr. Moore then announced that Keith MacDonald would serve as his Assistant Editor.

Although he would not elaborate on the policy under which the newspaper would operate, Mr. Moore did say that next year's paper would be a more open channel of communications n it has been in the past. Mr. Moore also feels that with the managerial staff that he and his assistant have assembled, the paper will better serve the needs of the St. Michael's community. Mr. Moore did say that The Michaelman would serve as a check on the Administration as well as a check on the Student

Mr. Moore's immediate plans call for cleaning out the Michaelman office so that he and his new staff will be able to put out the last three issues of the paper without too much difficulty. Mr. Moore also hinted at the possibility of a literary page (similar to the one proposed for use by the Quest), however he would not be to definite about it, because he feels that he will have to see how much interest there would be in such a venture.

Coeds Defeat Trinity

St. Michael's College girls defeated Trinity College 30-26 in a first of its kind basketball game. This game was played for the benefit of the Rescue Squad which netted over $300 for the Ambulance Fund. Colleen Keane with 13 points was the leading scorer for the SMC girls. Cheryl O'Donnel and Sue Palonci tied for the next scoring honors with eleven points each for the Purple Knights. Jeanne Curry scored 14 points and Linda Ready scored 10 for Trinity.

(Ed. Note — Girls you were dynamite and deserve much credit. Your generosity and sportsmanship were excellent and the possibilities for the future are unlimited for a statewide collegiate league. Also the revenue from the games could be used to improve women's sports at SMC.)

manded by Mr. Thomas J. Watson, triumphantly returned from the Saint Patrick's Day Manhattan College Invitational Drill Meet in New York City. This is the first time in the history of the Marching Saints that they have won three events in the same Drill Meet. This year the Marching Saints finished first in the Unarmed IDR category and first in the Unarmed Trick Drill Event. In addition, the Saint Michael's Marching Saints were selected as the Best Overall Air Force Team participating in the Drill Competition. This is a great achievement for the Marching Saints considering there were twenty teams from various New England and Eastern Schools participating in the Manhattan College Invitational Drill Meet.

The Saint Michael's Marching Saints are well known and respected throughout the United States. The Marching Saints have won over 60 trophies since their founding in 1955. Their first victory was at the Area "A" competition in New York City in 1955. The team

The Saint Michael's College then proceeded to run off a string.

Marching Saints Drill Team comof twelve consecutive victories. In 1966, 1967, and 1971 the team competed in Washington, D.C. and won the Unarmed Class all three years to become Unarmed National Champs. Also, in the Malone Winter Carnival the team has captured first place nine times out of eleven, including the past five years in a row. The team has also competed in Boston and has received invitations from as far away as Seattle, Washington.

Any student at Saint Michael's College is eligible to become a member of the Marching Saints. At the present time the team consists of seventeen members. They are, Seniors: Thomas Watson, Frederic Koechley, John Krause. Junior: Mark Hannon. Sophomores: Louis Botta, Joseph Healy, Michael Lauro, John Lima, Alan Murry, Kevin Priest, Stanley Szybillo, and Freshmen: James Blakeney, Brian Freyland, Kevin O'Rourke, Glenn Pallazza, Daniel Swift, and William Weiss. The faculty advisor is Captain Charles M. Shane, USAF, Assistant Professor of Aerospace Studies.

Career Day At SMC

For several weeks now a careers day committee has been planning a careers day seminar to be held on Wednesday, April 25 and Thursday, April 26. The primary objective of the seminar is to give students an opportunity to talk with faculty, alumni, and others about the various career op-portunities available to SMC students. The seminar will give students the chance to think about and question what they are going to do when they finish at SMC with what they have learned while they've been here.

On Wednesday evening department heads will talk with students to give them an idea of job opportunities in their fields not what jobs specifically are available but rather what type of

On Thursday in Alliot Hall information will be available at tables from various businesses, social agencies, graduate schools,

The seminar will be concluded Thursday evening with several very important discussions conducted by the placement staff concerning job interviews, resumes, and application procedures.

Everyone is encouraged to come — more information will be available later.

EDITORIAL

Ever since libraries have existed, there has been a problem with books being "appropriated" without authorization, and the St. Michael's library is no exception. Our faculty members, through an appointed committee, have come upon a temporary solution to the problem. After meeting and discussing the problem several times, it appeared that there were only three options available: 1) To recommend that the school purchase an electronic monitoring device that would screen all materials leaving the library, 2) to recommend that the school hire a student to sit at the door, and 3) to issue a strong plea that those responsible for not checking out books (students and faculty) please stop at the desk and check out the book and also to return them on the date due. The decision was made that for the present time, a plea be sent out asking that the books be taken out of the library through the proper channels only.

How effective will this strong plea be? From this vantage point, not very. If a committee that is made up of "concerned" faculty members cannot determine a better solution than the one offered, then the sincerity of that "concern" is doubtful. Perhaps the Faculty Committee on Archives, Bookstores and Libraries should meet again, discuss the problem, and then come up with a more realistic solution to the problem.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Sir:

Mr. Dyke's little jeremiad on The Quest, in which he blames the editors' incompetence, his own boredom, and student apathy for the magazine's failure, fascinated me.

I will not argue these points, except to stuffily point out that enthusiasm for a project is no guarantee that it can be carried out. Mr. Dyke knows that now. As for apathy among student writers on this campus, there is none, and there is a great deal of superior work being done.

I will not let go by, however, the remark that there is no more need for a Quest (read student literary venture) at St. Michael's College. There ought to be an outlet for good literary production, and until this year - there always was. What there is no more need for on this campus is the kind of provincial arrogance, selfishness and immature political ambition that destroyed St. Michael's participation in the best student literary magazine in the East. Mr. Dyke's belated plea for support for the News and the Weather comes late and rings hollow.

I might add that an outlet for the work of writers at St. Michael's has little chance for success as long as the dispensation of funds for its maintenance remains with the Student Senate. As moderator of The Quest from 1962-1971, and comoderator of The News and the Weather from 1971 until this year, I became too painfully familiar with the problem of scrabbling for money for the publications in competition with the Junior Weekend scrabblers, and anyone else who came along. The magazines always came last, were considered expendable and unimportant, and, in the end, were sacrificed to stupid personal ambition. My own feeling is that if Quest or N & W are to survive, their funding be removed from the hands of the games-players in the Student Senate, and turned over to the Publications Committee.

Sir:

In the last edition of The Michaelman, I was thumbing through your paper and I came across your fatuous section known as "Tidbits". Tidbits, as defined by The American College Dictionary reads "a choice or pleasing bit of news." Well, judging by the meaning of the word and what you use it for, I think the title of the article should be changed. Maybe an appropriate title might be "S---- Speaks" or one that is equatable to that might be "Junior High Jumble."

The reason for my displeasure with the particular article in mention is because of the sick humor the author displays in his one sentence, self-opinioned conjectures.

To get down to the specific matter, the anonymous author seemed it humorous or comical to mock a dreaded disease only prevalent in black people. The bogus rhetorician most likely meant it in good faith and he also answered a good question of why there are only 14 blacks at S.M.C.

I feel that racial jokes of that nature were played out 50 years ago, So, if the Don Rickles of SMC feels that his one line poignant phrases are funny, I ask him to contemplate this little proverb.

One who curses the present of should think about the future of himself.

Yours bluntly, Danny Noonan

Sir:

Just a short note to remind seniors to send in all your money for the Service Awards Banquet to either myself, Jim or Mr. Curtin as soon as possible.

In the week following Easter, caps and gowns will be distributed. Also to all graduating Seniors, you will be voting for the Senior who has contributed the most to St. Michael's and for the Faculty members who deserve recognition from the class in the form of the Faculty Appreciation Award. The tentative dates for the distribution of caps and gowns and voting are Wednesday, April 25, and Thursday, April 26 in Alliot Hall. (The room is not yet finalized, so watch the board in Alliot for further information.)

Have a nice Easter, and I hope everyone will give some serious consideration about who should get what awards.

Thank you W. Gaa Pres. '73 Sir

In light of the petty slanders, rumors, false allegations, snide remarks, scandals, calumnies and defamations of character which have repeatedly littered the yellow pages of The Michaelman, we find it necessary to record our convictions. Since orthodox standards of reputable conduct and decent journalism have been repudiated and because even the fundamental standards of human respect have been spurned by certain contributors to The Michaelman, we find it necessary to impose on these particular persons a cruder standard of conduct. If in future issues of The Michaelman any person or group on this campus is defamed or slandered, we will take it as a personal affront and will belabor the guilty party with a stout boxing of the ears and a boot to the but-

Although not an extensive schedule, coach Joe Pattison and the SMC baseball squad are looking forward to a successful season. Junior, Bob Nugent bolsters the pitching staff while sophomore catcher, Tom "Duck" Dunn and senior Chris Duffy at 3rd lead the hitting attack for the Knights. For the past three weeks, workouts have been held in the cage at the UVM field house. It has been an ideal place for the infield to work on fundamentals and for hitters to get their timing down. The Knights open up on the road with a twin bill vs. St. Lawrence on the 25th. SMC fans can look forward to some exciting action this season.

Congrats' are definitely in order for the SMC girl's hoop team after their first victory over "cross town rival" Trinity College. Fine performances were turned in by Colleen Keane and Sue Polonica, whose hustle and accurate shooting led the "Knightettes" to a 36-29 rout. In the making now is a contest between SMC and UVM co-eds.

Looks like the stage is set for the showdown between poly-hockey power Psi house and last year's winner Delta. Psi has been led by Tom 'hat trick" Hager (who incidentally performed the feat three times on the season) and freshman Tom Cripps, second in scoring for the current front-runners. In the opening round of the playoffs, Psi soundly defeated Epsilon 7-0 and is the favorite to win it all having defeated Delta once previously this season 5-1.

The intramural bowling crown was captured last week by a powerful, as well as undefeated, Psi house team. Looks like Psi is in definite contention for the intramural house trophy.

After witnessing last week's Rugby match, I can easily see how appropriately the team slogan was indoctrinated ("It takes leather balls to play Rugby"). All three squads went down in defeat, despite superb performances by all. Rugby seems to be a glorified name for "hand-to-hand combat", but is still a very gruelling and exciting sport.

Bill Gaa's efforts to initiate a SMC track team should certainly be commended. Maybe someday SMC can compete in this sport on a large

Even though its too early to tell, whoever picked the Yankees to win the All-East should be eating their words. I definitely feel that if Detroit's Billy Martin uses the new designated hitter rule effectively, and Mickey Lolich receives some support on the mound, the Tigers should walk away with the pennant.

One final point worth noting is that any person who gave up his time to referee any intramural contest this season, in poly-hockey or basketball, should be greatly commended. These people accepted next to nothing, no fanfare and received in return verbal (even physical) abuse constantly. They proved to be dedicated and sacrificing students (brave and courageous seems more like it!).

sports Michigan Scores

St. Michaels is seemingly blowing its chance to start going first class in their athletic program. Next, year's school budget calls for the closing of the North Campus Gym (which by right should be called the Buck Healy Intramural Building) during the months of the year requiring heat. The current budget alloted $9,839 for the complete operation of the present gym. Next year its budget has been cut to $2,600. This seems ludicrous to me, on one hand people are talking about the future expansion of girls' sports programs and vast improvements in the overall intramural program.

If the North Campus Gym is closed next year we are headed for the same problems that have confronted Michaelmen for years — that is a lack of athletic facilities. If kept in operation, the North Campus Gym would definitely allow for more kids to participate in intramurals and sports of their own choice. You can't tell me that there isn't a need for this gym to stay open. It could be used completely for intramurals and would allow for better scheduling of intramural events with fewer interruptions. Right off hand, I know for sure that poly-hockey would not be allowed in the Ross Sports Center. The administration would also like to attract to the new sports center other income producing activities besides just varsity basketball. An example of this would be the school booking different events that would be profitable to the school like the AAU Boxing Championships which were held for five weeks in a row at the Burlington Memorial Auditorium. This is a very feasible idea but if the North Campus Gym was not in operation, the students at SMC would have no place for athletics of any kind when the sports center is booked for a certain event.

I realize that St. Michael's is very budget conscious and money is tight, but it seems to me that out of a total of $5.5 million budget for the running of the school, that an extra $7,000 can't be squeezed out for the purpose of keeping the North Campus Gym open next year. A petition drive will be started in hopes that the students will get a fair shake on this issue. I just hope that something can be done, and that the students won't have to bear any additional cost if the North Campus stays open.

The Athletic fee for next year has already been increased by $25. With this money you will be paying for the maintenance of the beautiful new Ross Sports Center, but will lose the North Campus Gym during the months that require heat. With an increase like this, you would expect to gain, not lose.

If you feel strongly on this issue, be sure to sign the petition and maybe even drop a letter off to President Boutin.

I am happy to say that next year's sports editor will be Larry Halloran. Larry plays club football, intramural basketball and has been athletic chairman of his house in his three years at St. Michaels. I wish him well in his endeavor.

Epsilon House has done it again. Led by John Russell's 33 points, the Epsilon quintet defeated Delta House 70-67 for the intramural house championship. This was Epsilons second house championship this year, also capturing the football title last fall.

In the championship game, Epsilon jumped off to a quick 13-6 lead behind the sharpshooting of junior John Russell. But Delta House came storming back, aided by a three point play by senior Ron Skelton to tie the score 13-13 with 10:50 left to play in the first half. Delta continued to hold the lead and with only 4:37 left in the first half, Delta had a three point lead with the score at 27-24.

Both teams played their own games with good defense and steady offense. Neither team had the strong punch to blow the other team off the court in the first half and Delta had held a 39-35 lead by the end of the first half.

At the start of the second half, Bill Robbie scored two quick hoops for Delta and John Russell scored two hoops and a foul to make it 43-40, Delta, Epsilon took the lead again for the first time since they led 13-6 in the first half, by only one point. Geno Capello sank two free throws and Delta held the lead again by one point. The lead continued to change hands five times until John Russell hit on a jump shot to take a three point lead 51-54 for

Two foul shots by Capello narrowed Epsilons lead to one point again. A foul shot by Kevin Maynard brought Epsilons lead back to two points. A deuce by Capello tied it up with 5:48 seconds left in the game. Epsilon again regained the lead by two points when senior Ralph Piano scored on a short jumper. But with clutch shooting from forward Gene Capello Delta led it again with 5 minutes left. After that it was Epsilon all the way. Epsilon center, Ralph Piano sank two free throws to make it 59-57, and Epsilon was in the lead to stay. Epsilon led by as much as seven points with 2:13 seconds left, but buckets by Cevero and Skelton narrowed Epsilons lead to four. John Russell, who finished the game with 33 points, high man for both teams, scored two free throws for Epsilon to make it 69-63, Epsilon with 54 seconds left. Track News

With the coming (?) of Spring, another sport has been born on the Hilltop. This sport is one of the oldest in the world — dating back to the Greeks - and it is Track.

The SMC Track Team is a Club Team, hence it is limited by the amount of funds and equipment available to it. Though working under these two dark clouds, optimism is high among the Club's officers for the future of the squad. The Team's officers for its first year consist of Bill Gaa -President; Bob Cody, 1st Vice-President; Mike Laine, 2nd Vice-President; and Claire Winslow, Secretary-Treasurer.

The team was founded thru the hard work of these officers in a arranging its lone away meet against Lyndon State College and in recruiting persons to be on the squad. Right now, the squad consists of 20-30 members - ranging sprints-to-trainers-tojumpers-to-weightmen. So pretty much every event in their upcoming April 28 track meet shall have at least one Michaelman in it. However, there is still a need for more runners, jumpers and weightmen - so if interested contact Bill Gaa, Ext. 428.

With the Lyndon State Meet coming up soon, the team is realistic about its chances for winning. The squad hopes to be respectable with its performance and there is a definite chance for an SMC victory. So far the strongest events are the weights and jumpers with the weakest (because of lack of depth) being the middle distances and pole vault. If our two weaknesses can be filled by April 28, victory might be ours!

Yet, win, lose or draw - the team is stressing "Good Times. So, you think, one cannot have 'good times" and participate in track - well, ask Mike, Bob, Pete, Rookie, Tom, Ric, Mike, Kevin, Bic . . et al. Better yet — come on out yourself at 4 Monday through Friday at the South campus football field and discover — "Good Times" again!!!

Small America B-Ball Team

Three holdovers from last year's squad have been honored again by selection to the United Press International's 25th annual "Small America" college basketball team for players 5-foot-10 or under.

The three returnees are 5-10 Al Williams of Niagara, 5-10 Ronnie Lyons of Kentucky and 5-7 Otto Petty of Florida State. They are joined on the first team by 5-5 Gary Ganakas of Michigan State and 5-7 Monte Towe of North Carolina State.

With the little man slowly diminishing in numbers each year, it was hard to find enough players to comprise two full teams, but 10 squeezed in under the rule.

over the sport scene at St. Mike's. Though the season will only be ten days long and eight games is not much of a schedule, Coach Joe Pattison is determined to have the club ready for opening day, April 25, at St. Lawrence.

'We'd hoped for maybe 15-18 games but when the opening date is delayed to the end of April and school ends two weeks later, it's tough to get teams to play you. Besides most teams like to play an opponent twice, you know home and home, this way if you lose the first time you have a chance to get even, and if they're an easy win, why not take two. But our guys will be ready whether they play eight games or eighteen.

Thanks to the great facilities of the University of Vermont, a ballplayer doesn't have to wait until May to get in some practice. The team has been able to work out in the Gutterson Fieldhouse since the middle of March, fielding ground balls, shagging flies, and cracking bats. It'll pay off.

Everyone has their own ideas on how to get a team ready for the. first game and Coach Joe Pattison's big emphasis has been on hitting; "Every night for about two hours I have the players in the cage swinging. They'll hit till they have blisters then they'll hit some more. That is where the game is won, right there at the plate.

Players to watch in this regard are Tommy Dunn, Paul Jasinski, Chris Duffy, Tommy McConnell, and John Russell.

The question mark this season is going to be the pitching. Junior Bob Nugent is the only returning "chucker" from last season. Michaelmen may well remember Bob for his perfect game on opening day last season. With a lead behind him, Bob tends to be Baseball, the great American known to go a few innings on the pastime is just about ready to take mound and he's looked sharp in practice. And then there are a couple of new arms to be tested.

The infield on opening day will probably feature Jasinski at first, Mike Norton at second, Gilligan at short, and Duffy at third. They pull off a great double play and work well together.

Catching is going to be one of the highlights this spring. It has to be one of St. Mike's strongest positions. Sophomore Tommy Dunn has this position mastered, a strong arm, good speed and quick reflexes. And he hits. He's coming off a great fall (.444 avg.) and looks better every day. Ducky is going to be a good one. (Don't make me look bad Tom.)

In the outfield will be Dave Murphy, Tom McConnell, and Bill Fitzgerald, all back from the fall. Murphy and McConnell have really been ripping the ball in practice and Fitz is starting to come on. All should do well. Also! look for good performances from newcomers Bob Fox, and Tom Maloney.

The team has really been working hard getting ready, and each time I see them push harder I think back to what one of the players said to me about a week ago.

"It really gets me down, knowing that I put in this much time and bust my ass to keep in shape only to play in just eight games. Why can't we play more often?'

I didn't know the answer and it bothered me. My only wish is that the Athletic Department at St. Mike's would take the time to give sports like baseball a chance here. Shall we say this fall, Mr. Markey!

I'd also like to ask the student body to give the team a chance too. They need your support. The away games are a little tough to get to, but home games are played right here on campus. Come out tough. Mike Gilligan has also been and watch, they're your team.
